

Who We Are

Waterloo Community Access Television is a non-profit PEG (public, education, government) station serving the citizens of the City of Waterloo, Jefferson County and the Town of Portland in Dodge County. Our PEG programming is cablecast to the community on Spectrum cable TV (formerly Charter) channels 991/992. Programming is also available 24/7 online. We offer online live streaming for select scheduled events.

The goal of WLOO TV is to make available programming that reflects the interests and serves the needs of every segment of the community.

An essential part of our work is to assist residents and non-profit organizations in the City of Waterloo and Town of Portland with the production of their programs. We hope this will lead to entertaining, diverse, informative, challenging and interesting programming appealing to a wide spectrum of the community.

Our programming will include Waterloo School events, concerts, special community events, municipal meetings and much more. Additionally, we receive a variety of programming to cablecast that is produced by other PEG access stations regionally and nationally.
